ABSTRACT

Results are presented in graphical form of two series of beach questionnaire interviews: the first, conducted in January 1992 by undergraduate students in the Caribbean Coastal Studies course in Millersville University, PA; the second, in July 1992 by teachers in the Marine Biology and Oceanography Fieldcourse presented under the auspices of Loyola College, MD. The support of these institutions and the cooperation of the Institute of Marine Affairs in Trinidad & Tobago and Hofstra University's Marine Station in Jamaica are gratefully acknowledged.
