Following the success of the Flax and Juniper oil discoveries, Innamincka Petroleum has revealed plans to construct a 110 km pipeline.

Innamincka recently announced an oil discovery in South Australia's far north, which may prove to be one of the largest onshore oil fields in Australia.

An Innamincka spokesperson said the company's development projects include a 152.4 mm oil pipeline from the Flax well, just north of Innamincka, into Moomba.

The pipeline is still very much in its preliminary planning stages and the exact route is not yet confirmed and subject to land surveys. Innamincka hopes to begin construction of the pipeline in the first or second quarter of 2008. ■
