

SeaBird Sets Sail

The Aquila Explorer.

PESA News recently took the opportunity to climb aboard for a tour of SeaBird Exploration's 2D seismic vessel the Aquila Explorer, which was in port at Fremantle preparing for a seismic survey off southern Western Australia.

The port, swept by the gusty Fremantle Doctor, provided a scenic backdrop as SeaBird's Phil Gunn provided a rundown of the Aquila's facilities, top to bottom and everything in between, from the Sercel Sentinel solid streamers to the helicopter landing pad.

The Aquila has since shot seismic over blocks WA-379-P and WA-380-P in the Bremer Basin, completed over a six week period. Arcadia Petroleum is the operator in the blocks with a 90% interest, with Enovation Resources making up the other 10%. ■