

TERRY, RON, Dept. of Engineering - University of Wyoming

Enhanced Oil Recovery in Wyoming

There are three general types of enhanced oil recovery (EOR) processes, thermal, miscible, and chemical. This presentation will include a brief technical discussion of these three processes as well as an update on current EOR projects in Wyoming. A report of activities of the newly formed EOR Institute at the University of Wyoming will be included in the presentation.